NOTE: Although we encourage students to stay in our program housing at Las Brisas, we do not require it. Many program announcements are made at the program housing facilities, and we usually leave for trips and tours from the program housing. In the past, and on occasion, a few students have found alternative housing through connections and over the internet. Please be advised that we assume no responsibility for housing that you find on your own. Below is a link for shared housing in student facilities, including hostels that might interest you if the program housing costs exceed your budget. We share this site for your convenience, but we do not endorse it or make any representations of the quality or quantity of alternative housing units available through it.
