
The first block of reading for the class is pages 31 – 42 in the casebook.

For the first class session, concentrate on the facts leading up to the litigation. Try to prepare a description of those facts, in chronological order, and bring that description with you to the class so that you will be in a position to compare your summary to the one developed during the class session.